The debut issue of three-year corporate bonds of RosGeo for 6 billion rubles, which was successfully placed at the end of September 2021, was nominated as the winner of the Cbonds Awards-2021 in the category "Best IPO in non-financial sector".

The award ceremony, which took place in the framework of the XIX Russian Bond Congress in St. Petersburg, was attended by Sergey Gorkov, Director General - Chairman of the Governing Board of RosGeo.

"The geological industry is becoming more and more attractive to a wide range of investors. We are thankful to the investment community for such a high assessment of our placement. Entering the public capital market has become an important stage in development of RosGeo, and we will make every effort to further strengthen the investment attractiveness of the company in order to meet the investors' expectations", said Sergei Gorkov.

The Cbonds Awards are awarded to the best participants in the Russian bond market following an open vote, which has been held annually since 2006. This year it was held in 28 nominations.
